SHI and Hayes Software Systems Establish Reseller Partnership

Two Companies Help Bring Administrative Software Products to Schools in New York City

Austin, TX, November 15, 2006:

Hayes Software Systems, a developer of administrative software products serving the K-12 education market, announced today it has signed a strategic reseller partnership agreement with Software House International, SHI, the largest software reseller in the education industry.

Under terms of the agreement, SHI will fully integrate Hayes Software Systems' software products and services into its offerings available to New York City schools via the NYC Department of Education's FAMIS E-Catalog web site <https://dfoforms.nycenet.edu/ecatalog/>.

"This is a tremendous opportunity to offer our products through SHI's established distribution channel to New York City schools," said Michael Hayes, President and CEO of Hayes Software Systems. "Our NYC customers now have quick and efficient means to purchase our solutions and services from the FAMIS E-Catalog."
